

Whatever It Takes

Graeme Connors/Mark McDuff

You are like the weather sometimes I get it wrong and you change within a moment from sunshine to storm I love you when the skies are clear I still do when you're grey
I want to be the umbrella that protects you from the day

Whatever - I am here for you - whatever - this is what I do - whatever nothing good comes easy we all have to try a bird left in a cage too long forgets how to fly I've no preconceptions on how long healing takes all I know is I believe that you are worth the wait

Whatever - I'm prepared to do - whatever - I will stand by you - whatever and I - have never felt this sure

'bout anything in my life - as I do tonight
I know - there have been mistakes
maybe too many to put right but I'll do whatever it takes

If there are happy endings our time will come again when we're free and innocent and dancing in the rain until our story's over I'll continue to presume cause when we know too much you know we just grow old to soon

Whatever - I will see it through - whatever - I promise this to you - whatever

and I - have never felt this sure
'bout anything in my life - as I do tonight
I know - there have been mistakes
maybe too many to put right
but I'll do whatever it takes
I have never felt this sure
'bout anything in my life - as I do tonight
I know - there have been mistakes
maybe too many to put right
